A Readsboro Man Charged With Bastardy by a Clarksburg Girl.

John Carpenter of Readsboro, Vt, who Was airested and brought from Greenfield last week by Sheriff Moloney, was in the district court today as the defendant in a bastardy case the plaintiff being Miss Alvena II. Davis of Clarksburg, formerly of Readsboro. Lawyer Charles S. Chase of Whitingham, Vt., and Niles & Niles of this city represented the plaintig, and Mr. Green of the law firm of Green & Davenport of Greenfield appeared for the defendant. Miss Davis, who is soon to become a and that Carpenter had tried to settle the case with money. He promised again to marry her in case he could not settle, and then left Vermont and located in Green-ceed $2500 or $3000." Miss Barrett is the young woman who was found dead in the office of the firm two weeks ago, having committed suicide by shooting after she had attempted to burn some of her employer's books. The examination of the books shows that the money was taken in small amounts and carefully covered on the books. She might have gone on in this way for an indefinite length of time but for a chance remark of Mr. Briggs, one of the cierks in the office.

The outside business of the house was conducted by Walter M. Briggs, one of the clerks, and the inside work was per formed by Gerald G. A. Street, another ckrk. Mas Barrett was supposed to be an assistant to Mr. Street. She was bookkeeper, cashler and stenographer. As a matter of fact, however, she acknowledged the authority of no one but Mr. W. C. Codman. There was no one there to audit he books. Her monthly statements were accepted as final. A few days before her death Mr. Briggs remarked that there was a possibility of & change in the concern. He said that Mr. Codman was an old man, who would in all likelihood soon retire from business, and that Mr. John Codman, 2nd, would never be able to again take an active part in the affairs of the concern.

He asserted that a change was coming, or had reason to believe so. He communicated his suspicions to Miss Barrett. It was not good news. She knew that the books would show that she had taken different amounts of money. She did not have of her own money the means to make good the defalcation and she knew of no one from whom she could obtain it.

The only thing left for her to do was to destroy the books.

STEAMER CANADA FINED.

Boston, Aug. 5.-The controversy between the Dominion Steamship company and the local board of steamboat taspectors, arising out of the alleged violation of the steamer Canada's license in carrying more passengers on her last passage from this port to Liverpool than her papers permitted, has been satisfactorily adjusted by the payment of a fine of $50 by the steamship people. As a result of this trouble with the Canada, it is under stood that the captain of any passenger steamer leaving this port for England will be required to mother, swore that she was seduced by take oath at the custom house before Carpenter under a promise of marriage the steamer leaves as to the exact numher of passengers his steamer will carry. This is done in order to prevent a re-Eurrance of this affair.

CAPTAIN SIGSBEE JUSTIFIED.

Washington, Aug. 5.-The navy department has received a report from the special naval board which investigated the collision between the battleship Maine and the car barge and pier in the Fast river last week. The board fully justifies Captain Sigsbee for the course he adopted in choosing a comparatively slight injury to the Maine by running into the pier rather than bringing serious disaster upon the steamer Isabella, which was crowded with people.

HARBOR BRILLIANTLY ILLUMINED.

Most Successful Calebration Yet Held.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 5.-If Venice in all the splendor of a gorgeous water carnival ever afforded a more brilliant spectacle than the illumination with which Newport crowned here fete last night it is difficult to imagine it. It was a fitting finish to the day's celebration, and one that the city's guests will not soon forget. It is estimated that fully 20,000 visitors enjoyed it. During the day time the streets were crowded, but at night they were jammed.

Yesterday morning the harbor was all descriptions and numerous excursion steamers crowded in throughout the the New York club brought the climax, ningly countless evening the sec numbers of tall masts formed a picturesque and bewindering maze, through which scores of small boats and launches found passagevery difficult.

The graceful lines of many yachts were shown by scores of electric lamps, lanterns, depended from the rigging, and colored fires burned all about. The government warships made a magnificent the powerful vessels, and their searchlights swept the sky and glared into every nook and corner of the city and harbor.

The cruisers New York and Brooklyn and the battleship Maine made an especially good showing, and the Massachusetts. Indiana and Iowa were also lavish in their decorations. The Dolphin, too, was attractively embellished with electric lights. The Fall River line boats Pilgrim and City of Taunton showed expensive electrical designs, and both were covered from stem to stern with lamps. The Priscilla stopped over on her trip to New York until 11 o'clock and joined in the fete, An immense star and crescent of electric lights surmounted the torpedo station building on Goat islan), and each of the officers showed a flaming star on its ridgepole. Fort Adams was outlined in fire and myriads of lights on the training ship

Constellation, the training station and the Old Colony pier. The boats entered for the Venetian parade began to form in order at 7:30, and soon after they moved amidst the barking of yachas' cannon and the detonation of bombs ashore. From the end of Gozt island 13 Gettysburg bombshells spoke out from all the wharves and piers, rockets went up and candles belched forth showers of fire. As the procession continued the din was kept up on every side, and the principal fireworks display on the end of Goat island increased in beauty. Water fireworks, displays of Japanese rockels, acrial bouquets of fire, streams of cotored stars and surprising combinations of fire rapidly succeeded each other of boats. The latter included many Marshman, company D, Lewiston. The Second regiment team last year won the regimental match by only 10 points over the score of the First regiment. The contest is likely to be equally close this year, and there is great interest among the men in regard to the result. While the company team matches are con fined to each regiment, the total of all the team shooting showed that the Sec. ond regiment teams were the strongest. Colonel Farrington, the inspector general of rifle practice, is satisfied that the contest will be very much closer this year than last among the company teams, and higher scores will be made in both regiments. The National Guard of Vermont is soon to go into camp and there has been a surprising order issued from headquarters at Brattleboro,-surprising because issued in a prohibition state. It is a special order, both pleading and pathetic, hardly commandatory but yet eloquent in carnestnes .- and withal amusing. It calls itself an "admonition," and says that as the President and Secretary of War are expeeted to be present, model conduct will be in order. Here is the gist of this remarkable order.

N twithstauding the great improvement that has been made in our annual one implicates in regard to the death of toxicants, the governor is very anxious, on account of extra efforts being put forth by the different state's attorneys to suppress the liquor traffic in our state, that went the coming encampment should We at the coming encampment should made even a greater improvement than ever before. In fact he expresses the very earnest desire that all intoxicating drinks may be entirely eliminated, and the laws of the state be the law of this camp. He knows the tendency among young men unaccustomed to outdoor exercise for something in the way of stimulants when called into camp, and he promises to provide at the expense of the stinulants when catted into catter, and up promises to provide at the expense of the state a light lunch, including coffee and milk, to be served to the men during the morning and afternoon drill hours, in order to assist in overcoming the desire for something of a stimulating nature. I trust that the officers will encourage first that the oneers will encourage their men both by precept and example to obstain entirely not only from the use, but the dispensing to guests of anything that will intoxicate, and perhaps the best way to accomplish this will be to take no such beverages into camp. We have known that at Framingham in this commonwealth there was "a tondency among young men unaccustomed to outdoor exercise for something in the way of stimulants," when in camp, as well as the where. The tendency has always been tended to in Massachusetts. But how could Vermont young men know anything of "stimulants" outside of the milk and coffee of home and camp? And another question arises in our mind: Will milk and coffee succeed in sufficiently "assisting to overcome the desire for something of a stimulating nature?"

have no intoxicants there. Isn't that for you? Could any ordinary mind have conceived such premises and deduced so heavy a conclusion?

The mosquito has been abused for 3,000 years certain. History doesn't record that he has ever had a friend. He has had to fight out a precarious existence like the green bay tree and his tribe increases. All his small enemies in flydom gry song and doing business at the same lately said: "Belief in California Catarrh old stand that he was before Abraham | Cure is an article of faith in North Adams, camped in the Orient plains or Noah because people know for themselves, built the ark. Certainly he (and she) got without regard to what any interested berths on the ark. The earth-possessing parties say, of cures it has wrought among mosquito of today proves that much at their friends and neighbors." Why!

least for his autiquity. time. That is a pregnant thought. This fellow must have and always had some tention and even into the public press (as well as finger press) let us dispassionately and fairly consider him and his modus operandi. There's more to him than appears on the surface. He can give us a so stuffed up the passages of the nose that pointer or two himself, besides the pointer on his beak.

There's nothing green about the mos-Darby's drug store, the relief has been so quito. He's done brown all over, even if he wasn't born earlier than yesterday. He is to be found in the city, at the seashore, at the summer resort, and is reported as numerous at Klondyke, where he has claims on every miner and tenderfoot in that region. He's an incessant traveler, and there's nothing green or fresh about

Again, the mosquito is tender hearted for he's eminently an individual of flesh and blood, and his blithesome nature keeps him singing all the day and all the night. He never attacks his prey in wanton cruelty or for sport, and he never kills it and leaves it unused. "One stomach malady, full of blood's enough for me" seems to be the burden of his desire and song.

Then, too, the mosquito is a deep fellow. He is not superficial. A thing may seem fair enough on the surface. like a maiden's arm for instance, but he believes in being more than skin deep. He goes under the surface and bores into things. Outside appearances don't go far with him.

Again, the mosquito is absolutely impartial in his tastes. He and the African caunibal have strikingly similar appetites. but the mosquito is not fussy about always having missionary. Common tolk millionaires and princes will do for him, and if Weary Willy and Resting Waggles are to be believed, the life of the tramp is made to groan with the mosquito's visitations.

Another virtue of the mosquito is his tireless energy and unceasing activity. He is in the world for business. While men are sleeping he is on the wing or possibly on them. Space nor time nor climatic zones mark the bound of his field of operations. He hasn't time to sleep nor fool. He is at picnics but not for fun. He accompanies the trout fisherman but not for sport or trout. He is with the summer girl in the hammock, but not for any sentimental purposes. He is in many a bed-room but not for sleep, His face is always grave and earnest, his eyes solomn, his beak sharp, and his whistle wet. And flually, he is persistent and brave

He is reckless of life and limb and wing in his profession. He'll tackle anything THURSDAY AFTERNOON, AUG. 5, '97 from an elephant to a baby. He stays around after he knows he isn't wanted and till man and beast would like to kill him. He has more gall than any summer book agent. But he bears no malice and follows no victim after he's got what he wants. He lays nothing up against any man after he's got a paunch-ful of blood out of him, and if he chances to get killed in the game he dies singing and without a kick-if he's killed instanter, He plays his life against one square meal. He does what he must in the world to survive,no more nor less than what you and I do, dear reader, in the struggle for existence. Have we not, then, found the mosquito of ancient lineage, cheerful, always business like, bearing no malice, deep, encrgetic, brave and courageous? What man can claim as much? We declare ourselves the friend and admirer of the mosquito,if he will but leave us alone and practice his virtues only on our neighbors.

was confronted with a tall dark eyed manwhose face seemed familiar, yet I could not identify him. He was the picture of 39 health and his large brown eyes seemed to fasten on me. "I beg your pardon," he said, "but your face is familiar, may I ask your name." J. Mahl Bennett, I re-23 plied. A smile crept over his face and his eyes closed as though trying to think of something. "Another question, please. Where were you from August 7 to 14,1886? On the broad Atlantic ocean, I said, en route for Europe, "Were you on the French steamer La Gascogne?" he asked. Yes, "Then," he said slowly, "you are the man I am largely indebted to for saving my life." You interest me, I said, for did not know that I had a credit in this or any other world for saving a human life. "You will remember," he said, "rather late on the evening of the 11th of August at the stern of the boat, you and I had a long talk, you said you were homesick and would be glad when you had gotten through with your business in Germany and could return home. I replied that l expected when I returned home, it would be in a box, and that I wished I was at the bottom of the furrow made in the water by the keels of our steamer," Then, I said, you must be that tall, thin, sickly man, we called the "Ghost." "The same man," he said, "and you will remember introducing me to Dr. R. C. Flower of Boston, a physician, who you said was the most wonderful specialist in the the treatment and cure of chronic diseases the earth has ever produced." remember the incident well. Dr. Flower and his secretary were passing on La Gascoone, and in introducing you I told you that if any man on earth could help you, Dr. Flower was that man "Well, the day after I was examined by Dr. Flower. My troubles, as I had told you, were consumption, Bright's disease, catarrhal and gastric disease of the stomach, and heart trouble, and my limbs had swelled to the size of my body nearly. I had been given up as incurable by the leading physicians of San Francisco and New York, and had been sent abroad as I knew so as to die away from home. I placed myself immediately under his care. He seemed to have everything I needed with him. During his three or four weeks practice in Paris and London I visited him frequently. I rapidly improved and after returning to San Francisco I continued my treatment for thirteen or fourteen months and was permanently cured. If it had not been for Dr. Flower. I should have been a dead man ten years ago, and in place of a happy wife, a sorrowing widow and three fatherless girls would have been struggling for sustenance, and if it had not been for you, I

I spent a lovely evening with my friend of the ocean voyage, and before retiring that night, I made up my mind that as I had entered into the newspaper work that I would investigate Dr. R. C. Flower's practice in Connecticut and that if it showed the same wonderful examinations and miraculous cures and bore the same charmed history that the cure of Philo E. Brosius of San Francisco bears, that I would give it to the world, first, as a fascinating narrative full of interest and charm, and second, that the sick may know where to find help when all others have failed.

Investigation Begins.

Procuring the names of a few of Dr. R. C. Flower's patients and from these natients hearing of others, I began an investigation of his practice which all critics will confess is phenomenal if not mi-

Idid not believe he could do anything of the kind, but as other physicians had failed to help me and I was growing rapidly worse, I decided to consult Dr. Flower. Upon one of his visits to the Allyn House, Hartford, I called upon him. A great crowd of people were waiting to see him. In time my turn came. Imagine my surprise when the Goctor without asking me a question told me all my troubles better than I could have told him. I knew I was in the presence of a man who was great in his profession, who understood thoroughly his work, and that he understood my allments. I put my-self under Dr. Flower's treatment and soon began to improve. My improvement was rapid and permanent and in a few months I was cured. I have sent sevommend Dr. Flower to the sick."

Words of praise from Judge Loomis lips are not idle words, as every man in Connecticut knows. For years he was foremost at the Connecticut bar, and for twenty years he was on the supreme bench of the state. No man stands higher intellectually or as a man of integrity and clean character than Judge Dwight Loomis, and when such a man, in the evening of his life as he nears the silence and sleep which come to all, says what he says of Dr. R. C. Flower, and in saying so speaks from actual knowledge, it means that the sick and dying in this world find in Dr. Flower a physician who cures when help has failed them from all other servíces. For a Coffin. "Just at this time Dr. R. C. Flower made professional visit to Hartford, As a last but forlorn resort my wife and come of my friends carried me to the Allyn House to see Dr. Flower. Without asking me a question the doctor told my exact condition and my physical condition for years past better than I could have told him. Three leading city physicians had just held a consultation over me and told my wife I could not live four days. I was in the last stages of Bright's disease, not a drop of red blood in my veins, my urine nearly solid albumen, a jelly, and I was monstrously swollen. Dr. Flower said if I could live until he got his medicines to me, he believed he could care me. He telephoned my order to his Boston office and the next morning my medicines arrived, but I had gone down rapidly during the night and the next morning was at death's door. My family doctor said I could not live until night. My wife began pouring Dr. Flower's medicines down me in a good wifely way. It was a terrible race bewifely way. It was a terrible race be-tween death and life, but, thank God, I had Dr. Flower on my sfde, and by night I was better. I continued to improve, I was better. I continued to improve, and in a few months I was cured. My friends all say if there was ever a modern miracle, my case was one. I was actually saved from the jaws of the grave after 1 had been chilled and numbed with the touch of death. Dr. Flower is the greatest man and the greatest doctor on this earth. I have sent several of my sick friends to him and he has cured them in the same miraculous way."

Mrs. G. O. Downing, 383 Broad street, Meriden, Coun., says: "I had been a great sufferer for years with catarrh of stomach and heart. I improved rapidly and in a few months was permanently cured. I have had several of my friends cured by Dr. Flower. He is the most wonderful and the greatest physician I ever knew." But why multiply testimonials? We could give a thousand, all telling of their miraculous cures. In this thorough investi gation of Dr. R. C. Flower's practice, the following points should be specially noted: 1. That Dr. Flower's practice is not experimental. Being able to tell each pa-

The old patients bring their sick friends, thus the crowds increase. This could not be unless the doctor cured

A AT ADAMS TODAY Pretty Home Wedding.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the bome of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Hosley, who conducts Dr. Rice's farm on the west road near W. W. Butler's home at Zylonite, Wednesday evening. It was the marriage of their daughter Eleanor, to Lawrence Nichola of Zylonite.

The farm house was made very attractive. The parlor was neatly trimmed with potted plants, cut flowers, ferns and golden rod and presented a pleasing effect.

At 8 o'clock the couple marched into the parlor and stood in a corner of the room, beneath a bower of golden rod and Rev. Miles B. Fisher performed the marriage coremony. The bride was neatly attired in a brown traveling dress and wore roses. None but the intimate friends of the couple were present. During the evening a supper was served and a pleasant time was spent.

The bride is an estimable young lady and well known to a large circle of North Adams friends. The groom was formerly with the American Express company of this town and is at present with the same company at North Adams. He is an energetic and deserving gentleman and his many friends extend their best wishes. Many Beautiful and costly presents were received. The couple left on the midnight train from North Adams for a wedding

School Committee Meeting.

The regular meeting of the superintendent and school committee was held at the high school building Wednesday evening. Various business matters pertaining to the changes in the school buildings were discussed but nothing definite was done. It was decided to continue Hoosac street school under the direction of Miss Lucy Burlingame. Miss Irene Bowen, who graduated from Bridgewater normal school, has been added to the list of teachers. She is also a graduate of the local high school, class of '95, and is deserving of the appointment. The various assignments of teachers will be made at the next meeting.

Attempted Burglary--A Bicycle Smashup--Free Railroad Rides.

Free Railroad Rides.

Free rides on the Fitchburg railroad are quite common these days. The train that came in from the west at 6.40 p m sets two cars on the sidetrack here, as more of a train is needed west of here than between this place and North Adams. It is the first two cars that are set off, and with them the engine starts along very acon after the train comes to a halt. People on their way east and who do not understand the arrangements hurry aboard and just get comfortably seated when the train suddenly comes to a stop. By the time they get their heads out of the window to see what has happened the train begins slowly to back up, and when it stops again they find themselves about six rods from where they started, and as they walk back by the side of the engine to the other cars for a fresh start their counter nances signify anything but the eatisfaction that usually comes from a free railroad ride. Even a railroad man was caught the other day, which was the signal for a boisterous outbreak among the employes about the depot.

A Bicycle Smashup.

J. Frank Torrey and his brother Channsey met with a bad accident Tuesday. They were riding a bicycle race near the home of their father, John A. Torrey, when the chain of Frank's wheel broke and he was thrown heavily to the ground, striking on his left shoulder and hip. He was ahead when the accident happened and as he lay stretched across the road over last week and after a short visit himhis brother's wheel struck him in the back and the rider was thrown headlong. One of Frank's legs was badly skinned and he was bruised in several places. His pany is on one of his periodical visits here clothing were badly torn. Chauncey also sustained painful injuries and both re- the kiln. quired the services of a physician, Dr. Hull dressed the wounds and both young men are doing well. The wheels were somewhat damaged,

Attempted Burglary.

Last Saturday morning the man employed in A. S. Laliberte's merchant. talloring establishment on Spring street was unable to unlock the deer and called Walter Bryant, who removed the lock with which some one had attempted to trance was not gained. It is believed to have been the work of home talent who knew Mr. Laliberte was away from home on his vacation. Mr. Laliberte has the piece of wire found in the lock and says he will gladly restore it to the owner if he will call for it.

Manager Brown announces that he will have a variety show in Cole's grove next week Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Performances will be given every evening and also Saturday afternoon. Another sparring exhibition was given Wednesday

J. M. Galusha, with H. Heap of the Boston Finishing works, took advantage for the last day for legal trout fishing Saturday and got a good mess. This is the sober, candid statement. E. Hickox and Harry Galusha have taken a having to do way down at the Pine place in Lanesboro, After a first day's work some time last week they had to wait for the waters to subside, meanwhile looking things over to discover, if ossible, where to corral such portions of their stock on hand as might take a downward move. Saturday they went at it again and succeeded in storing about a dozen loads while it was raining hard here, and hailing in the south part of town.

Conjectures about hay weather are seldom indulged in just now. Anything new offered even in this line is treated with coolness. There have been so many disappointments that we have become skentical concerning even the professions of the weather bureau.

The next meeting of the Ladies' aid soclety will be held with Mrs. Algene Wheeler the last Wednesday in August. The rain of the past two weeks has spoiled a vast amount of hay throughout the town. Grass that is still standing needs cutting badly, and farmers are anxonly as short a time as possible, still a number got into the miner's car to inspect their mode of travelling. A contrast was drawn between the luxurious coach and the Klondyke conveniences.

Several men connected with the Stanley Manufacturing company of Pittsfield have the Klondyke fever. They have kept it very quiet. It is learned, however, on very good authority that four of these men have decided to start for the gold region. They are men who have a good deal of scientific knowledge, and two of them know considerable about mineralogy as well as electricity, of great value in prospecting for gold.

North Adams men are free from the fever. A good deal was heard Wednesday night when real live Klondykers swept into the local orbit. There is a belief prevalent locally that it is too late in the season to go out and possibly this is keeping the fever down.

It has been decided that the gold fields are in British territory, east of the 141st meridian. It is reported that British officers are guarding the boundary and will allow no one to pass who has not one year's provisions. This is to avoid untold suffering which would follow an indiscriminate rush. Steamer after steamer is leaving Alaska carrying hundreds of ortune seekers and incredible prices are being paid for transportation in Alaskan territory. A bad man was picked up this morning by Special Officer Woodbury of Fairground avenue.

At 3 o'clock this morning Mrs. Joseph Brannig of Fairground avenue was awakened by the breaking of a window screen in hir bedroom window. When she looked she saw a man's arm and shoulder coming through the screen. She awoke her bushand and the burglar hurriedly withdrew and disappeared.

Williams was held for the grand jury in honds of $900 on the three complaints and was taken to jail. Williams stated that he was one of a gang of four tramps. Whether this is so or not is not known, but if it is the others have probably placed a distance between themselves and North Adams by this time.

Special Officer Woodbury is deserving of much credit for his prompt and effect ive work in this case, for there is no doubt that he landed a dangerous man.

Nichols-Hosley.

A quiet home wedding took place Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Hosley, on Dr. Rice's farm near the Adams line, when their daughter, Eleanor, was united in marriage to Lawrence Nichols of Zylonite.

The farm house was beautifully trimmed and decorated for the event. The scene n the parlor was especially fine. The walls were decorated with evergreens and round about were potted plants, ferns and vild flowers.

At 8 o'clock the bride attired in a brown traveling dress and holding a bunch of oses, entered the parlor on the arm of her father who gave her away. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Miles B Fisher of Adams, while the couple stood beneath an arch of golden rod in a corner of the room. After the marriage a supper was served and those present tendered congratulations. The couple left this city on the midnight train for a short wedding tour. Miss Husley is cashier in Baime & Handler's store and is a highly respected young lady. Much Like "Innocents Abroad."

SHIPPED LAGER FOR INSPIRATION | WAS VERY UGLY WHEN ARRESTED | A FARGICAL GAME OF ERRORS

The Buys From the "City of Wheels" Met Something Faster Than Themselves. Punctured by North Adams and Sent Home for Repairs.

"The Slaughter of the Innocents" o 'The Comedy of Errors," either, would be a fit title for the tragedy in nine scenes which was enacted Wednesday afternoor at the North Adams Baseball park,

To say that the Overmans were easy for our boys is putting it mildly, more correct is the statement that they were "never in it." The boys from Chicopee Falls lacked in two vital particulars. Firstly, they could not hit, and secondly their fielding was of the yellow hue, Sniffer nitched the first five innings and his slow ball and great drop proved an unsurmountable stumbling block, only two rans, in the third, were secured off him, while our pride had attained to a double figure, 15. Then with a face suffused with smiles, Drew, the heavy hitter essayed to "put them in," and he wore the same smile when he left the box. He was as much of a puzzle to the lads in scarlet, as his predecessor, though they did make three runs in the last inning. Charity demands that no detailed criticism of the work of the visitors be at_ and is a hard looking character. In court | tempted, especially as space is valuable and the error column large. On the other hand, a good deal can be said in North Adams' representatibes. Only one error marred their efforts. The were continued to next Tuesday, the sun beating down blindly counted defendant being held in $900 bonds, and for naught, and the fielders caught everything in sight, making some unusually fine running stops. Nothing could pass them and the way they hustled from the beginning was a pattern to the Chicopee Falls men. And the way they slugged the ball!

Twenty-two hits, which sandwiched in with nearly as many errors by the other side yielded twenty-four runs, against five presented to the visitors in all. Neither side scored in the first inning and the way "our own" chased high ones, caused one enthusiast to prophesy victory they did no better at their turn of the bat and two large "crullers" went up on the score board, young Sniffin getting two Then came the second with seven runs, four two-base hits, two of which were secured by Sullivan, and the game was won then and there. In the third, with bases full, Sniffin hit Tuper and as the next man up made a hit, two runs, the only ones until the ninth, were put to the credit of the boys from the city with McBride knocked it over the fence once

Their Differences to be Submitted to Bishop McFaul of Trenton.

An interesting piece of news to many in this city and vicinity is that the breach that has existed for thirteen years in the Ancient Order of Hibernians of America has about reached adjustment. A meeting of the seceding delegates and the dolegates of the old order was held at Atlantic City, N. J., Wednesday. There were present for the Ancient Order of America: P J O'Connor, national president, of Savannah, Ga; John S Weadock, of the fine work of national vice-president, of Bay City, Mich; James O'Sullivan, national secretary, of Philadelphia; Rev W F Mc-Laughlin and National Directors Maurice F Wilkere of Philadelphia and Col. John T Murphy of Norwich, Conn. The seceders were represented by Rev F S Philips. national delegate, Scranton, Pa; F A Hayes, national secretary, New Brunswick; James Quinlan, Scranton, Pa; Joseph B McLaughlin, Philadelphia; Myles F McPartland, Brooklyn, and James H Murphy. According to the articles of agreement, it is specified "that all questions in dispute shall be referred to an arbitrator, who shall be chosen from the hierarchy of the United States and who shall be Irish by birth or descent. He is to have full power to reconcile existing for their opponents, but it was not to be, differences." Bishop McFaul of Trenton was agreed upon as arbitrator, and delegates were sent to Trenton yesterday to ask him to accept.
